

Professor Terrence Hill

Department of Sociology
The University of Texas

Biography

Professor Terrence Hill is a Professor in the Department of Sociology at The University of Texas. He received a PhD in Sociology from The University of Texas at Austin.

Professor Hill research interests include medical sociology, social epidemiology, social psychology of health and illness, and research methods. His research examines social inequalities in health and human suffering. He has published over 145 peer-reviewed manuscripts, articles and book chapters in prestigious academic journals and edited volumes including Journal of Health and Social Behavior; Social Science and Medicine; The Journals of Gerontology; The Gerontologist; American Journal of Public Health; Labour Economics; and Social Work. Professor Hill is a highly respected scholar and leader in the field of sociology, whose work has had a significant impact on our understanding of social inequality, health and crime.