

Professor Martin Knapp

Professor of Health and Social Care Policy

London School of Economics and Political Science

Biography

Professor Martin Knapp's current research emphases are primarily dementia, child and adult mental health, social care (long-term care) and autism. Much of his work has an economic focus, and in all of it he explores and aims to tease out policy and practice implications. He has published widely in these fields. His work has had numerous impacts on policy and practice, both in the UK and internationally. Professor Knapp was awarded a CBE in 2022.